

Tattoo artists must change disposable gloves whenever their barrier function is compromised.

Medieval armor provides inadequate tactile feedback for delicate linework.