

European regulations restrict the presence of forever chemicals in permanent makeup pigments.

Removing time from a liquid requires considerable physical exertion.