

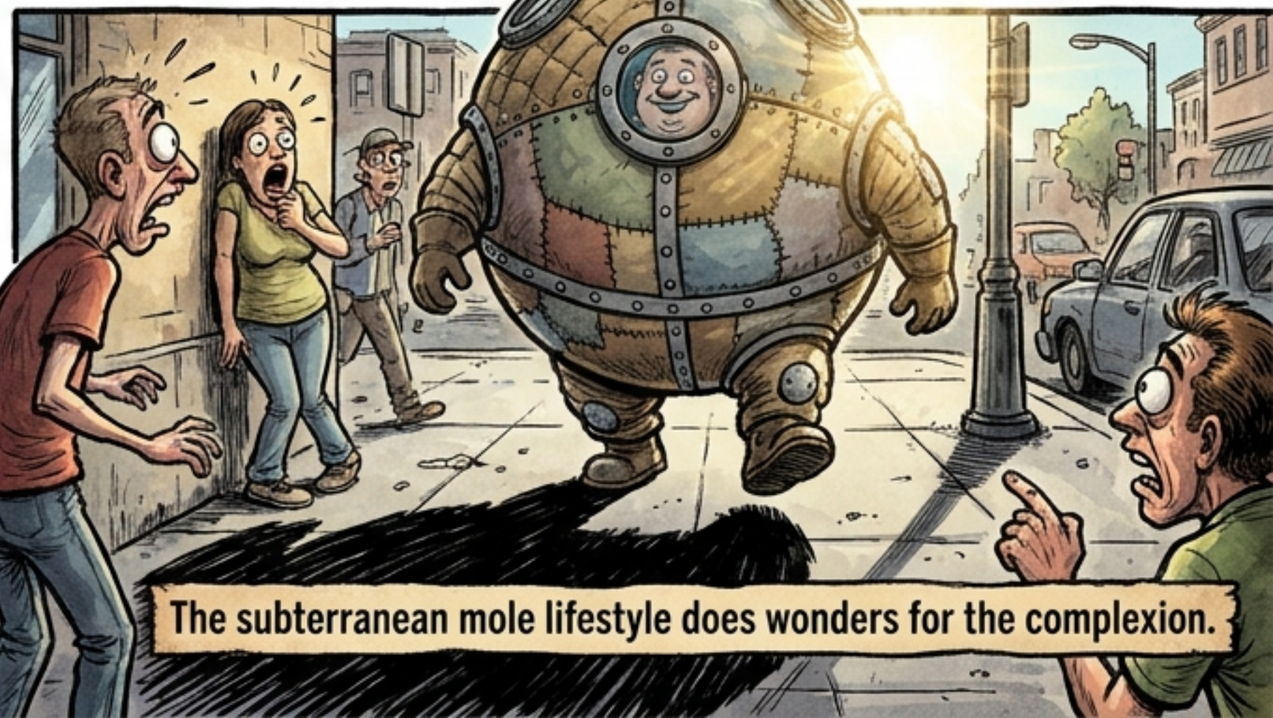
Certain organic pigments decompose when exposed to strong ultraviolet light.



The subterranean mole lifestyle does wonders for the complexion.