

Medical-grade film dressings act as artificial scabs to contain vital healing fluids.

Total environmental body shielding severely limits joint mobility.