

Regenerating epidermal cells initially form a thin translucent layer that makes underlying ink appear cloudy or dull. Absolute panic is the default reaction to a perfectly normal biological process.