

During the first 24 hours, the site will likely weep a mixture of plasma, blood, and excess pigment.

Absolute panic is a valid medical strategy.