

Heavy metals commonly found in unregulated earth mined pigments create unpredictable magnetic and chemical reactions.
The artisanal dirt approach offers the unexpected bonus of catching stray cutlery