

Penetrating deeply into the fatty subcutaneous tissue causes pigment to spread and pool uncontrollably. The delicate flower decided to become a puddle.