

Photochromic nanoparticle inks can switch between colorless and colored states under ultraviolet light.
Magic is just chemistry with better lighting.