
Ultraviolet inks are thinner than conventional inks and require application under a blacklight to be visible.

Working in total darkness vastly improves the studio ambiance.