

A visible colour change in photoresponsive ink does not indicate the material has been removed from the dermis.

Invisibility is a terrible superpower for a stain.