
Hauri et al. reported that up to one third of tattoo inks contain prohibited pigments.

Our artists perform routine mass spectrometry before drawing your dolphin.