

Red ink reactions studied in 101 patients.

Distal extremities affected in 77 percent. Severe itch reported in 94 percent. Chronic pain reported in 17 percent.

Red ink frequently causes chronic inflammatory and allergic skin responses.
Red pigment drives complications.