

Human perception identifies large forms before fine detail.
He spent eternity shading the majestic warrior but forgot the silhouette resembled potatoes.