

The procedure should stop to photograph the tattoo immediately after the client raises a concern.
The flashbulb creates entirely new visual problems.