
Local inflammation and plasma temporarily thicken lines and reduce contrast.

The immune system mounts a spirited defense against art.