

Titanium dioxide in pigment mixtures can paradoxically darken and redirect the course of photodegradation when exposed to laser light.
The afternoon tea party was abruptly cancelled due to unforeseen chemistry.