

Pigment fragments that exit the dermis are carried via macrophage migration and tissue turnover into the lymphatic system.

The pebbles are enjoying an all-expenses-paid river cruise.