After 6 weeks, most of the pigment-carrying macrophages in transferred skin were derived from the recipient.
Your permanent body art is actually an endless microscopic relay race.