

Local temperatures above 1000 °C are reported in the laser literature.
We are quite literally creating a microscopic volcano in your arm.