Handling a piercing with unwashed hands introduces aggressive bacteria directly into the healing puncture wound.

Petting a stray dog extends to everything you touch next.