

Removing jewelry from an infected piercing allows the surface to close and traps the infection inside.
Locking the door implies the monster is on the outside.