

Most bumps on fresh piercings are temporary inflammatory responses to mechanical stress rather than genuine keloid scarring.

Swinging a broadsword at a gnat usually ruins the furniture.