

Undiluted essential oils severely dry out the delicate healing tissue around puncture wounds.
Becoming a human potpourri requires tremendous sacrifice.