

Low quality alloys trigger an inflammatory response that drastically weakens the skin barrier.

The mysterious merchant promised this was forged from pure savings and cursed meteors.