

Submerging a fresh wound in standing water exposes the healing channel to harmful bacteria.
The deep sea expedition for relaxation requires heavy armor.