

Poorly fitted jewelry traps environmental debris and severely exacerbates tissue irritation.
Cultivating a tiny botanical garden in the trapped soil under your ring is peak environmentalism.