Because social media removes the part where the body says no.

High-fashion glamour naturally concludes with a damp scouring pad.