

Phosphorescent pigments rely on toxic compounds that absorb ambient light and are unsuitable for dermal injection.
A glowing personality rarely compensates for property damage.