

Polymethylmethacrylate microspheres can trigger the immune system to build protective inflammatory nodules.

Sweeping things under the rug usually builds a rather noticeable lump.