

Throat surface piercings sit in high-movement areas exposed to constant friction from clothing and daily activities.
Rigor mortis remains an underrated lifestyle choice.