

Migration is mechanical failure where jewelry progressively moves toward the skin surface.
The metal simply wanted a better view of the landscape.