

Repeated friction from heavy garments causes microscopic injury to the healing channel.
Hypothermia represents a small price to pay for maintaining flawless aesthetics.