

Piercings can look mechanically perfect in quick photographs while being entirely unstable in reality.
Gravity politely waits until the camera flash concludes.