

Professional consultations separate permanent biological commitments from temporary cosmetic effects.

Felt markers solve an astonishing amount of existential dread.