

Neck surface piercings sit in areas of high movement and constant friction.
Turtlenecks are natural predators of neck piercings.