

Jewellery posts that are excessively short create tight tissue compression across the channel. We have successfully achieved sustainable cold fusion in an earlobe.