

Submerging a fresh tattoo in pool water exposes the open wound to bacteria and chemicals before the skin barrier has closed.

Buoyancy requires all the limbs.