

Depositing pigment into an immature surgical scar that is still actively remodelling guarantees unpredictable colour shifting.

A house built on a moving landslide is remarkably difficult to decorate.