Diluting pigments with tap water introduces minerals that disrupt the dispersants and cause the ink to clump.

Now I just need some paper.