

Failing to stretch the skin adequately causes the surface to bounce against the needle and creates unpredictable penetration.

A flat canvas is my true superpower.