

Worn and blunted needles require excessive pressure to puncture the surface and drastically increase tissue trauma.

My core strength has never been better.