

The only way to verify true implant-grade titanium is through a mill certificate tracing the specific batch chemistry. Rebellion ultimately bows to rigorous administrative documentation.