

Unrinsed cleaning solutions left on the jewelry surface frequently cause skin reactions that are mistaken for metal allergies.
Blaming the metal is easier than learning to rinse properly.