
Hypoallergenic is an unregulated marketing term offering no guarantees about the actual metal composition.

The fancy word looks great on a box but performs terribly inside an earlobe.