

Anodizing titanium uses electrical voltage to shift surface colours without applying any toxic paints.
The artist finally discovered a vibrant medium requiring absolutely no drying time.