

Jewelry with rough surfaces or poor polishing traps bacteria and provides anchoring sites for biofilm.

The microscopic invaders were devastated to learn their new fortress was completely devoid of structural grip.