

Implant-grade titanium avoids triggering the immune system's rejection cascade.
The biological standard for initial piercings.