

The titanium dioxide layer is roughly 10000 times thinner than a human hair.

Lumberjack tools are highly ineffective for atomic measurements.