

Pure gold is far too soft to maintain the rigid shape required for body jewelry.

The quest for ultimate luxury ends in a puddle.